Notes for Andrew Anes (Arjen, Avry, Areal, Aaron) Fisher:

The mystery with Andrew / Arjen is that various records (US 1880 in Muskegon MI, his 1875 marriage record, his death record in 1897) indicate his birth to be in or around 1840-1841 in the Netherlands, yet there is no birth record to be found anywhere in the Netherlands for someone with that name and in that timeframe. Thus far, we have not come across an immigration record for him. The best clue we have regarding his origins comes from his death record, which shows Aane Fisher and Grietje (no surname mentioned) as his parents. The only couple we could locate that comes reasonably close in terms of names are Anne Ales Visser, married in 1827 with Geertje Arjens Hiemstra. For that couple, we have six children, among whom is an Arjen, born 26 sept 1831, Barradeel, Friesland. The trouble is that this Arjen is about 9-10 years older than the Andrew / Arjen in Muskegon, MI.

Arjen (born 1831) was married in 1861 Barradeel, Frl. to Trijntje Greefkes (born 19 jun 1821, Wonseradeel, Frl., natural daughter of Catherina Jans Greefkes, abt 1780 - 14 Juni 1823). Trijntje was the widow of Pieter Tjipkes de Vries. The scan of the marriage record of Arjen x Trijntje on the website www.Allefriezen.nl shows clearly that Arjen is the son of Anne Visser and Geertje Hiemstra. His occupation is 'broodbakker' (bread baker) . Joy, this is very important !

We suggested that this Arjen may have moved to the US because there is no other trace of him in Friesland, or in other part of the Netherlands. We may very well be right. The emigration registrations in Friesland are not yet included on the Allefriezen.nl website (unlike the Groninger records), so "my partner" consulted Swierenga's book "Dutch Immigrants to the US" which is a listing based on Dutch municipal emigration registrations -- so until Allefriezen puts that info on the internet, Swieringa's book is a handy reference.

In that book, he finds that an Arjen Anes Visser departed 't Bildt, Friesland in 1872 to go to the US, he is 36, occupation baker, (important again !) traveling alone, destination unknown, reason for departure: to join family and/or friends. This looks very much like the the broodbakker Arjen who married Trijntje Greefkes. The problem is that his age at that time should be 40 or 41, and not 36. We cannot find any other person with that name and occupation in that area, so we suspect (but have no proof) that Arjen's age was not recorded correctly -- the question is, how did that happen? Did Arjen misstate his age, trying to look younger than he was? And if that was the case, could he be the baker Arean Fisher who claimed to be 37 who married Delia Voogd (who according to their marriage record was 16 at the time, but may have been only 14 1/2 years of age (!) if she is indeed the same person as Diewerke Voogd who was born 9 July 1861 in Warffum, Groningen, as daughter of Jan Hindriks Voogd x Jantje Jannes de Graaf). In 1875, the Arjen born 1831 was 43 years old -- perhaps the age gap between him and his bride was a concern?! Of course, this is speculation -- at this time we don't have solid proof for this line of thinking, but we must say that it is the most plausible scenario we can think of.

By the way, my partner found no immigration record for an Arjen/Andrew in or around 1872.

[There is another person of interest shown in The "Dutch Immigrants" book -- Melle Jacobus Visser who leaves Wonseradeel, Frl in 1880 for the US, age 29, baker's helper, travelling alone. That Melle also settles in Muskegon where he is a baker. Melle and Arjen are cousins, both of them are grand children of Ale Pieters x Anjite Melles van Dijk.]

Death certificate Ferwert 1907, Act No 20 On 18-02-1907 dies in one Trijntje Geefkes Faber, according to the declarants Ferwert she was 85 years old, born in Makkum, first widow of Pieter de Wit, then of Arjen Visser, "being further renseignements den declarants unknown". The declarants were not entirely on the height anyway, because Trijntjes first spouse was called De Vries, her mother-in-law was called "de Wit".
